- Email or other electronic means: Only if the tenancy agreement specifically permits service by email and you have prior written agreement from the tenant

Record keeping: Keep proof of service (e.g., photograph of hand delivery, postal receipt, copy of email). If proceedings are started, you may need to provide evidence of when and how the notice was served.

Important: The date in section 7 should be the date you serve the notice, not a future date.

Service and Validity Checklist

Before serving this notice, ensure you have satisfied all of the following requirements:

- The tenancy is an assured or assured shorthold tenancy under the Housing Act 1988
- All details in sections 1-7 are complete and accurate
- The ground(s) specified are applicable to your circumstances
- You have provided the full statutory text for each ground from Schedule 2 of the Housing Act 1988

Service Instructions for Section 8 Notice

Property: 456 Tenant Road
London
E1 6AN

Tenant: Jane Tenant

Notice Type: Section 8

Service Date: 15 January 2025

Expiry Date: 29 January 2025

⚠ CRITICAL: You must serve this notice correctly or it will be invalid. Incorrect service is the most common reason for court rejection.

How to Serve This Notice

Under the Housing Act 1988, you have several options for serving the notice. Choose the method that gives you the best evidence of service.

RECOMMENDED METHOD: Hand Delivery

- Hand-deliver through the letterbox at the property
- Date: Deliver on or after 15 January 2025
- Witness: Take a witness with you who can confirm delivery
- Evidence: Take a photo of the letterbox with the notice visible (or being pushed through)
- Time: Note the exact time of delivery
- Witness Statement: Get your witness to sign a statement confirming what they saw

✓ Why this is best: Clear evidence of when and where the notice was delivered. If the tenant denies receiving it, you have photographic proof and witness testimony.

Alternative Method 1: First Class Post

- Send via Royal Mail First Class post
- Keep proof of postage receipt (Royal Mail will provide this when you post)
- Deemed served: Notice is deemed served 2 days after posting (excluding Sundays and bank holidays)
- Safety margin: Add 2-3 extra days to your notice period if using this method

 Note: First class post is legally acceptable, but provides less certainty than hand delivery. The tenant can claim they never received it, and you'll only have proof of posting, not receipt.

Alternative Method 2: Recorded Delivery

- Send via Royal Mail Recorded Delivery
- Tracking: You'll receive a tracking number
- Proof of delivery: Royal Mail provides proof when it's delivered
- Signature required: Someone must sign for it

⚠ Risk: If the tenant refuses to sign or doesn't answer the door, the notice may not be deemed served. Use this method only if you're confident the tenant will accept it.

✖ NOT RECOMMENDED: Email or Text

- Do NOT email or text the notice unless your tenancy agreement specifically allows electronic service
- Most tenancy agreements do NOT allow electronic service
- If you email/text and the tenancy doesn't allow it, your notice is invalid
- You'll waste time and money and have to start again

Evidence You Must Keep

---

If you go to court, you must prove you served the notice correctly. The court will ask for evidence. Keep the following:

Service Evidence Checklist:

- ✓ Photo of notice being delivered (letterbox shot with notice visible)
- ✓ Witness statement (name, address, what they saw, signature)
- ✓ Proof of postage (if posted)
- ✓ Recorded delivery receipt (if used)
- ✓ Copy of the notice you served (this exact document)
- ✓ Date and time of service (written down immediately)
- ✓ Any correspondence with tenant acknowledging receipt

Witness Statement Template:

"I, [Witness Name], of [Witness Address], confirm that on [Date] at [Time], I witnessed [Your Name] hand-deliver a notice through the letterbox at [Property Address]. The notice was fully inserted into the letterbox and dropped inside the property. [Signature] [Date]"

What Happens After Service?

Waiting Period

After serving the notice, you must wait until the expiry date: 29 January 2025

- The tenant does NOT have to leave immediately
- They have until the expiry date to leave voluntarily
- During this period, they should continue paying rent
- You cannot change the locks or force them out (this is illegal)

If They Leave Voluntarily

If the tenant leaves before or on the expiry date:

- ✓ Great! You've avoided court proceedings
- ✓ Do a final inspection with them present (if possible)

- ✓ Complete the check-out inventory
- ✓ Return their deposit within 10 days (if protected)
- ✓ Settle any disputes about deductions

If They Don't Leave

If the tenant is still in the property after 29 January 2025:

- DO NOT change the locks (illegal eviction - you could face criminal charges)
- DO NOT remove their belongings (illegal)
- DO NOT harass them or cut off utilities (illegal)
- DO apply to court for a possession order

 Court Application: You'll need to use Form N5 (standard possession claim). If you purchased the Complete Pack, these forms are included. Otherwise, you'll need to upgrade or obtain them separately.

Common Mistakes to Avoid

- ✗ Serving the notice too early (before arrears reach required level for your ground)
- ✗ Getting the expiry date wrong (too short or not aligned with rent period)
- ✗ Not keeping evidence of service
- ✗ Serving by email when the tenancy doesn't allow it
- ✗ Changing locks before getting a court order (illegal eviction)
- ✗ Missing compliance requirements (gas cert, EPC, How to Rent, etc.)

Legal Basis

---

Service Requirements: Housing Act 1988, Section 8

Proof of Service: Civil Procedure Rules, Part 6

Illegal Eviction: Protection from Eviction Act 1977

Important: This is guidance only and does not constitute legal advice. If you're unsure about any step, consult a solicitor or legal advisor.
