WHAT THIS MEANS

Protection

Your deposit is protected in a government-approved scheme. This means:

- Your deposit is safe
- You can challenge unfair deductions
- There is a free dispute resolution service
- The landlord faces penalties if they do not protect your deposit

At End of Tenancy

When the tenancy ends:

1. You and the landlord will agree deposit deductions (if any)
2. If you agree, the deposit will be returned (minus agreed deductions)
3. If you disagree, you can use the free Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) service
4. The ADR decision is binding on both parties

Disputes

If there is a dispute about deductions:

- Contact the scheme's ADR service
 - Submit evidence (photos, inventory, receipts)
 - An independent adjudicator will decide
 - The decision is usually made within 28 days
 - Both parties must accept the decision

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Landlord's Obligations

The landlord must:

- Protect your deposit within 30 days
- Provide prescribed information within 30 days
- Return your deposit within 10 days of agreement
- Use ADR if there is a dispute
- Provide evidence for any deductions claimed

Your Rights

You have the right to:

- Know your deposit is protected
- Receive prescribed information
- Challenge unfair deductions
- Use the free ADR service
- Receive your deposit back promptly

Penalties for Non-Protection

If a landlord fails to protect your deposit: - You can claim 1-3x the deposit value - The landlord may face deposit-compliance issues in later possession proceedings - The landlord may face court action

SCHEME CONTACT FOR DISPUTES

If you have a dispute about deposit deductions at the end of the tenancy:

DPS ADR Service

Phone: See scheme website

Email: See scheme website

Online: <https://www.depositprotection.com/>

You must raise disputes within the deadline set by your deposit scheme after the tenancy ends.

PRESCRIBED INFORMATION PROVIDED

As required by The Housing (Tenancy Deposits) (Prescribed Information) Order 2007, the following information has been provided:

- Name and contact details of the deposit scheme
- Landlord's or agent's contact details
- How the deposit is protected
- Amount of deposit
- Address of the property

- Why deductions might be made
- How to apply for the return of the deposit
- What to do if a dispute arises
- ADR service information
- Statutory compliance information

DEPOSIT DEDUCTIONS

The deposit may be used at the end of the tenancy for:

1. Unpaid rent and other charges under the tenancy agreement
2. Damage beyond fair wear and tear to:
 - Property
 - Fixtures and fittings
 - Furnishings
3. Cleaning costs if the property is not returned reasonably clean
4. Loss of keys or other security devices
5. Other breaches of the tenancy agreement

Fair wear and tear is excluded - normal deterioration from ordinary use over time.

HOW TO GET YOUR DEPOSIT BACK

At End of Tenancy:

- Step 1: Give proper notice to end the tenancy
- Step 2: Clean the property to the check-in standard
- Step 3: Repair any damage you caused (beyond fair wear and tear)
- Step 4: Remove all belongings
- Step 5: Return all keys
- Step 6: Provide a forwarding address
- Step 7: Attend the check-out inspection if possible
- Step 8: Agree deductions with the landlord if any are proposed
- Step 9: Receive the deposit return (usually within 10 days)

IF YOU DISAGREE WITH DEDUCTIONS

- Step 1: Raise your objection with the landlord in writing
- Step 2: Provide your evidence (photos, inventory, receipts for cleaning)
- Step 3: Try to negotiate
- Step 4: If no agreement is reached, use the ADR service
- Step 5: Submit your case online with evidence

Step 6: The adjudicator reviews both parties' evidence

Step 7: A decision is made (usually within 28 days)

Step 8: The scheme releases the deposit according to the decision

The ADR service is free and binding.
