

Section 13 Rent Increase Cover Letter

Enclosed is Form 4A proposing a new rent for this tenancy, together with a short explanation of the market evidence relied on.

This proposed rent is supported by 8 comparable two-bedroom properties used in the market calculation, with all listed within the last 90 days and all source-backed and sits below the adjusted median of £1297.50 pcm. The notice file is ready to serve on the recorded facts.

Property: 10 Sample Road, Leeds, LS1 1AA

Tenant(s): Alex Tenant, Jordan Tenant

What is enclosed

1. Form 4A showing the proposed rent and the proposed start date.
2. A rent summary identifying the comparable evidence and the landlord position on market level.
3. Contact details for Taylor Landlord if the tenant wants to discuss the proposal before the new rent date.

Rent position in brief

Current rent: £1200.00 per month

Proposed rent: £1285.00 per month

Proposed start date: 01 June 2026

The proposed rent is supported by current market evidence and sits within the lower-to-mid range of comparable properties locally.

Comparable footing: 8 comparable two-bedroom properties used in the market calculation, with all listed within the last 90 days and all source-backed.

Assessment: Moderate likelihood of challenge; Strong evidence.

The proposed rent of £1285.00 per month is below the adjusted median market rent of £1297.50 per month. Based on the comparables analysed under section 13(4) of the Housing Act 1988 (as amended), the proposed increase is presented as reasonable with a moderate likelihood of challenge and strong evidence. The proposed rent reflects recent local listings, condition, and current market positioning for similar two-bedroom homes.

Response window and service record

Recorded service method: First class post

Recorded service date: 25 March 2026

The tenant can refer the proposed rent to the tribunal up to the day before the proposed start date. The tribunal can set a lower rent, but not higher than the rent proposed in the notice.

If the tenant queries the figure, answer from the same rent figures, dates, and comparable evidence shown in Form 4A and the justification report.

If a revised figure or later start date is agreed, record that in writing so the negotiated position does not drift away from the notice file.