Operative Provisions

1. Tenancy Setup Summary

The front sheet shows whether the tenancy file is ready for signature, what still needs attention, and which supporting records should stay with the agreement after sign-up.

PROPERTY	12 Example Street, London, SW1A 1AA
LANDLORD	Jane Landlord
TENANT	Alice Tenant
TENANCY START DATE	2 May 2026
TENANCY TYPE	England assured periodic tenancy
RENT	£1500.00
DEPOSIT	£1500.00
BILLS INCLUDED	No bills are stated to be included in the rent unless this agreement expressly says otherwise.
STATUS	READY TO SIGN

The premium agreement anchors the tenancy record and the Premium Management Schedule should be followed alongside it so reporting, inspections, keys, contractor access, and hand-back expectations stay aligned.

Status meaning: the core tenancy facts are in place and no structured blocker is currently recorded.

If the tenancy is not set up clearly and consistently, it can affect how issues are handled later, including possession.

2. Key Setup Checks

- Core party, property, payment, and start-date details are recorded clearly.
- Deposit support documents are included so the protection record can stay with the file.
- The Premium Management Schedule is included so the management process sits beside the agreement.
- Right to rent checks are recorded for 25 April 2026.

3. How the File Works

Supporting documents included: Main tenancy agreement; Pre-tenancy checklist; Keys and handover record; Utilities and meter handover sheet; Pet request / consent addendum; Tenancy variation record; Premium Management Schedule.

Next step: sign the agreement, complete handover, and keep the full pack together as the tenancy record.

- Sets up the tenancy clearly and keeps the core landlord file together from the start.
- Keeps the payment, deposit, utilities, and handover records aligned with the signed agreement.
- Reduces the risk of later confusion, missing evidence, or rebuilding the file when enforcement or possession issues appear.

4. Premium Management Controls

MANAGEMENT CONTACT CHANNEL	Email
REPAIRS REPORTING PROCESS	Landlord direct by email
INSPECTION WINDOW	Quarterly weekday daytime visits
CONTRACTOR ACCESS PROCESS	Tenant to be notified before contractor attendance.
KEY RELEASE POLICY	Keys released to contractors only against a signed key register and same-day return expectation.
UTILITIES TRANSFER EXPECTATION	Tenant to open supplier accounts from the tenancy start date using the recorded opening readings.
HAND-BACK EXPECTATION	Return all keys and provide final meter readings.

- If payment is late, the landlord should keep payment records up to date and the tenant should raise any issue promptly in writing.
- Persistent arrears may affect later possession grounds, so the tenancy file should stay current.
- Where an issue arises, the landlord should record it clearly, communicate in writing, and keep the tenancy file updated.

Execution

This document should be signed and dated by the parties and retained with the tenancy records.
